BASECAMP 37 HOUSE MANUAL

Check-in is at 4:00pm MDT. Please note, it is best to get here before dark since we are tricky to find at night. When you know your arrival time, please text Amy.

Check-out is at 11:00am MDT. Please turn off all lights and hang all towels in your tent or place them in the laundry basket by the bathrooms.

Time Zones: Don't be late for your tour or your flight! We recommend adjusting your phone settings to not automatically change time zones while you are at BaseCamp37. Set your time zone to Salt Lake City, otherwise, your phone will keep switching time zones, which can be quite confusing.

- BaseCamp37 and Utah are in the Mountain Daylight Time (MDT)
- Nevada is in Pacific Daylight Time (PDT)
- Arizona (including Antelope Canyon and the Grand Canyon) is in Mountain Standard Time (MST). During the summer months, their time is the same as Pacific Daylight Time because they do not practice daylight savings in Arizona.

Emergency Information:

- Medical, Fire, and Police Emergencies: 911
- Fire Alarms: Located in each tent
- Fire Extinguishers: Located in the guest lodge
- Kane County Hospital (10 miles from BaseCamp37)

Water at BaseCamp37: Water is a luxury in the desert! Please be water-wise and treat our water as a precious resource!

- We are on well water, it is safe to drink, but it doesn't taste great. Please enjoy the jugs of water in the guest lodge for drinking and cooking.
- We are on a septic system, DO NOT FLUSH ANYTHING EXCEPT TOILET PAPER!

Solar Power at BaseCamp37: We are proudly off the grid! Please be mindful of this and turn off lights, fans, and electric mattress pads when they are not in use. Our solar system is delicate. DO NOT PLUG IN HAIR DRYERS OR ANY SMALL APPLIANCE IN YOUR TENT OR THE GUEST LODGE!

Goal Zero Solar Panel and Generator: Your tent is powered by your own Goal Zero solar panel and generator, which means you will want to be mindful of your energy usage in your tent!

- If it is off, push the small buttons marked AC and USB to turn on your Goal Zero. There will be a small green light that turns on, letting you know it is ready to use.
- You can plug chargers directly into your Goal Zero using the USB ports on the Goal Zero or into the power strip hooked up to your Goal Zero.
- If you use too much power at once, your Goal Zero generator will shut off. To reset, push the small button above the AC or USB plug-ins.

Sierra Madre Warming Blanket: If your tent has a futon, your tent comes with a small Sierra Madre warming blanket. You will need to charge your blanket before use. Do not put the warming blanket directly onto your skin.

- If needed, plug the power pack into your Goal Zero to charge.
- Once charged, plug the power pack into the small zippered pouch on the side of your blanket.
- Red and Blue Settings: Push the M button once to activate the red setting and twice to activate the blue setting. The red setting will turn on your blanket for 15 minutes and then shut off. The blue setting will turn on your blanket, intermittently, for 15-minute windows.

Buddy Propane Heater: Your tent is equipped with a Buddy Propane Heater to help keep you warm!

- To light, the pilot, twist and push down the knob repeatedly until a small blue angled flame appears at the bottom of your heater. Keep pushing in the knob for at least 30 seconds to ensure the entire heater is primed for heating.
- Once the pilot light is on, gently push down the knob and twist to Low, Medium, or High.
- If your heater isn't working, check that the propane tank is turned on outside of your tent.
- Do not leave your Buddy Propane Heater unattended, and be mindful and cautious when placing items near the heater. If the heater is knocked over, it will shut off automatically. Please turn off the propane tank outside your tent if your heater is knocked over or if any other issues arise.

Plants and Animals at BaseCamp37: Please watch where you walk!

- Snakes: We do see a few snakes every year. While it is uncommon, please use caution. There are good and bad snakes. The bad ones have rattles. If you see one, avoid it, and let the host know.
- Mice: We often see mice in and around the tents. If you don't want a late-night visitor from our local mouse population, please keep all food in the guest lodge, in your car, or in a cooler.
- Cactus: Be mindful of spikes and thorns, especially with your furry friends.

Food: As you arrive in Kanab, we recommend that you grab your food and drinks on the way in. There are two grocery stores in Kanab. We have a fully stocked kitchen with plates, silverware, pots, pans, spices, olive oil, and a fridge full of condiments - and don't worry, we have firewood, and all the s' more fixings are already here!

- There is a shelf in the fridge with your tent name on it. If you need more space, grab a bag of ice and use one of the coolers here.
- Please keep all food in the guest lodge, in a cooler, or in your car to help with rodents! You will get an evening visitor if you leave out tasty treats.
